Miss Tena Coffee, age 17, one of the most amiable and lovable young ladies of our city, died Sunday afternoon at the residence of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Coffee. The early approach of her death was not unknown to her. For a year or more she had been marked as a victim by consumption. Neither was the proposed for it. tion. Neither was she unprepared for it, her heart had been quickened by the love of her Saviour, and trusting Him implicitly she calmly sank into His divine embrace. A beautiful and interesting wedding took place in the Presbyterian Church, Abbeville, S. C., on Wednesday evening, the 4th inst. The contracting parties were Mr. H. Frank McGee, formerly of Auder-son but now a resident of Abbeville, and Miss Agnes P. Quarles, of Abbeville. The event was made more interesting by the presence of Mr. and Mrs. G. Frank Bamberg, who, that morning, were wedded in Anderson. Mrs. Bamberg, ncc Miss Nelle McGee, is a sister of Mr. Frank McGee, and one of the most charming and popular young ladies of Anderson. All the con-tracting parties have been conspicuous in society among the young people, and the dual wedding was looked upon as quite a social event. We had hoped to chronicle the fact that a new Court House and Jail would soon ornament our city, but the votes of the e were sgainst it. They are both needed. The Jail is old, insecure and, in architectural design, painful to the sight. Since the sitting of the last Court ere the Court House has been condemn ed and pronounced unsafe by the County Supervisor and the leading architects an builders of this city. The Statute provid-ing for the submission of this question to the voters of our County expires, by its own terms, with the announcement of the esult of the votes cast, and another Act of the Legislature is necessary before the people can vote upon it again. Having talked with a number who voted "No" on the question, we are convinced that the result of the vote was due either to a misinterpretation of the Statute or the absence of a correct understanding respecting the tax levy and the powers delegated to the County Board of Commissioners, or both. The tax levy provided for was only one mill, which is ten cents on each hundred dollars worth of property returned for taxation. Ten thousand dollars of taxable property returned would have called for only ten dollars in taxes. No one, we think, had they understood it, could scarcely have been found objecting on this The Act empowered the Commisscore. The Act empowered the Commis-sioners to sell the Jail, Jail lot and Cour-House, but they were not permitted to sell the Court House lot or site. They were authorized to exchange this site or lot with the city authorities for one of equal value, provided the exchange could be made without additional cost to the County, but the city has no lot to offer in exchange for it, and to buy a lot with hard cash and present it to the County is a thought never entertained for a moment, probably, by even one of our citizens. The new Court House would have been built upon the present site and we have been told, and firmly believe, that had the people in the County been satisfied on this point, the result of their votes would have been entirely different. We all want a new Court House and Jail. Every one recognizes the fact that they are a necessity The question of site alone, prevents the people from being in perfect accord. We shall not object to its present site, but if built there, we hope to see a building which will be an ornament to our city. The Legislature meets the 2nd of January next, and our Representatives should be urged to secure the passage of another Ac submitting this question once more, and at an early day, to the voters of our County. It may be well to state the fact that present Court House and lot and Jai and lot has not cost the taxpayers of our County a dollar. When by an Act of the Legislature, passed Dec. 20th, 1°26, the District of Pendleton was divided into two counties, the Commissioners were author zed to purchase a tract, not less than one hundred nor more than four hundred acres and, after laying out the village, de-termining sites of public buildings and retermining sites of public buildings and re-serving such portion for public purposes as they deemed advisable, to sell the village for an hour what the editor was driving hits at public auction. The money arising from these sales was appropriated to the building of a Court House. And from the title up to 1863 or for as we have inthat time up to 1863, as far as we have in-vestigated, the State has made direct ap propriations for repairing and remodeling these buildings. When the Jail was mov-ed from Granite Row to its present site.

ometime in the fifties, A. Evans acting as of the State. Death of Capt. W. S. Sharpe. The great questions and events which fying to know they appreciate the advancontrol the united minds and actions of milions of mankind, do not, in the slightest particular, interrupt the visits of the Angel of Death. Amid the stirring scenes through which we have just pased, when the minds of the nation were fixed uron the result of votes only a day before cast for President of the United States, the Augel of Death entered the home of our esteemed friend and fellow-townsman, Capt. William S. Sharpe, and claimed him for the grave. It is a satisfaction which even the presence of death cannot extinguish nor qualify that we may record however feebly and imperfectly, our trib-ute to his character, virtues and history By his death we lose a true and tried friend, and this community loses one of its most successful and honored citizens. A man full of generous impulses, honest, earnest purposes, sagacity, practical knowledge and common sense. His withdrawal from active business twenty years ago was keenly felt, although he remained a factor in the growing enterprises of the town. Now, death removes all save the influence heleaves behind. Capt. Sharpe was born in Iredell County, N. C., January 23rd, 1833. Upon the death of his father, which occurred when he was twelve years old, he moved to Newberry, S. C., entering the home of his uncle. In August, 1855 he moved to Anderson, and, with a very limited capital, engaged in the mercantile business. In October of the same year he facilities are such that he could not have reached Baldwyn until to-day. He was probably forced to spend twelve hours of anxious waiting within 30 miles of his bride-elect.

Mr. Oliver Bolt came near meeting with a heavy loss by fire Sunday afternoon between 4 and 5 o'clock. Lying around his gin house he has about eighteen bales of cotton. On the branch near his house were camped a lot of Gypsies. Children from this camp were seen playing on the cotton and shortly afterwards flames were seen. In a twinkling the entire 18 bales were singed over, but by prompt action the fire was soon under control and finally extinguished. Mr. Bolt found that his morning by the Rev. J. N. H. At several of the precincts where the voters were not well advised on the general election law tickets with the "No" and "Yes" respectively were erased and changed to suit their views, and voted. This fact becoming known gave rise to rumor that with these "illegal" votes thrown out, the new Court House and Jail was an assured fact. The Commissioners of Election recounted the votes cast on this question, laying aside the mutilated tickets, but upon finding that these tickets did not change the result, hey declared the entire vote as cast.

A Chance to De a Good Deed. Our American people have big hearts. One thing they will not do—they will not let the orphans suffer if they know it. As proof of this, in the little village of Clinton, in South Carolina, the Thornwell Orphanage which was founded in 1875 has grown apace, till now, into its many cottages one hundred and fifty children are gathered, while very many who found a home there, have gone out well fitted to do good work for themselves and the world. Little boys and girls, that were bereaved of a parents care, and no one knows what would have become of them, have been helped to man's estate and are now prosperous merchants, mechanics, farmers chants, mechanics, farmers, teachers, preachers, missionaries. Many of the former pupils are happily married, and all are doing well. These orphans while coming mainly from South Carolins, Georgia and Fiorida, are yet drawn from every Southern State. There are, for instance eight from Texas, seven from Virginia. They are also from every prominent denomination, and ten churches, (Catholic and Protestant) are repre-sented among the children. They are taught thoroughly a full course of literary studies and in addition all are put to some trade, such as printing, carpentry, farming domestic work, &c. They are a bright, happy, contented household and that their health is cared for, is shown by the fact that there have been only three deaths in 21 years. The strange part of it, all is that great work is maintained solely by the free gifts of good people. The responsibility for its success is placed upon a generous public, thus proving the state ment that our American people have big hearts. Any one wishing to send money should remit to Rev. Dr. W. P. Jacobs, while boxes and barrels of provisions should go to Thornwell Orphanage, Clinton, S. C. Let your gift reach them by Thankegiving day.
